

VISIONARY LEADERSHIP

In 1919, a group of forward-thinking executive women came together in Buffalo, New York, to use their combined expertise in service to their community. Not satisfied with the predominantly social nature of many women's organizations at the time, the women who founded Zonta envisioned a new kind of service organization – one that would promote professionalism among its executive members while serving the needs of girls and young women in the community.

One hundred years later, the legacy of Zonta's early members can be seen and felt through more than 1,100 Zonta clubs in 62 countries across the globe. While the world has changed dramatically over the last century, more than 26,000 Zontians today remain committed to the professionalism, fellowship and service that led Zonta's visionary founders to come together.

Today, Zonta's history extends beyond the community service of each individual Zonta club. Zonta International has provided more than US$50.1 million through the Zonta Foundation for Women to empower women and girls and expand their access to education, health care, economic opportunities and safe living conditions.

Zonta's vision will not be achieved by monetary donations alone. At the local, national and regional levels, Zonta clubs and individual Zontians are advocating for laws and policies that ensure gender equality and help every woman and girl realize her full potential.

"Zonta, with its members and partners, is a strong, committed community working together to fight for gender equity at the local and global levels. We will build a better world for women and girls by standing out for gender equity, representing global citizenship, developing future leaders, celebrating ourselves and positioning Zonta for the future."

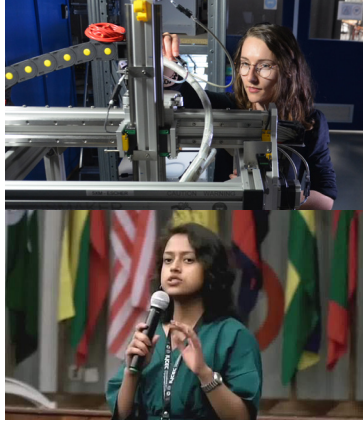

—Ute Scholz, International President 2022-2024

LOCAL ACTION

Zonta International is a global community of more than 26,000 women and men in more than 1,100 Zonta clubs in 62 countries.

At the local level, Zonta clubs identify the most urgent issues affecting women and girls in their communities and develop service and advocacy projects to address these challenges. The issues and solutions vary, as each is tailored to local needs.

Read below to learn more about just a few ways Zonta clubs are building a better world for women and girls.

Supporting victims of domestic violence and their families in Australia

In Australia, an estimated 2.2 million adults report as victims of intimate partner violence from the age of 15. To raise awareness in their local community, the Zonta Club of Redcliffe Inc held a fundraising breakfast event for the Small steps 4 Hannah Foundation. The Small Steps 4 Hannah Foundation exists to end the cycle of domestic violence so that everyone can feel respected, informed, confident to act and safe. The fundraiser aimed to develop an awareness of coercive control and the steps local, state, and federal governments took to work together to combat domestic and family violence in their community.

Aiding emergency political refugees in Italy

The Zonta Club of Sanremo, Italy, has aided hundreds of refugees from Afghanistan and Ukraine. As many of them arrived without luggage, the club rallied their community to donate clothing, medication and other needs. Some members also opened their homes to shelter them. One of the beneficiaries was Narges. When the Afghan government fell, she had to destroy all traces of her in fear of retaliation against family members she had to leave behind. As a sign for a better future, the club gifted the refugees a yellow rose, which also symbolizes the fundamental principles of Zonta.

Expanding teenage pregnancy awareness in Ghana

The Zonta Club of Accra Jubilee, Ghana, organized a health screening and sexual reproductive health program in Chokra, an underprivileged community. Chorkor has notably high levels of teenage pregnancy and early marriage and about 111,000 Ghanaian adolescent girls became pregnant each year. Through this program, the club seeks to transform the outlook for girls by empowering them with education and sexual reproductive health awareness, which will help launch and protect their dreams. The club plans to have a biennial health screening and sexual reproductive program. For their first year, they reached 113 females, of which 66 were girls.

Taking action on climate change in Uruguay

Understanding climate change as a human rights issue is central in creating a sustainable, gender-equal future. The Zonta Club of Punta del Este-Maldonado was inspired to build a greener, cleaner and more equal society in their city. Although Uruguay doesn't experience natural weather disasters, the city's expansion is causing an alarming rate of deforestation. The club decided to call attention to their community on this issue by planting native trees and flora in city parks and open areas. The mayor and environmental activists assisted the club in planting trees and flora across the city.
